NUCLEUS OF AUSTRALIAN NAVY HAS BEEN STARTED

Victoria, B. C., April 10.—Advices were received by the steamer Ararat that the Australian government has started the nucleus of an Australian navy by ordering three torpedo boat destroyers. They are to be built in Scotland, and at a cost of $125,770 each, and another is to be made there and put together in Australia. The material for this one is to cost $625,000. The prices given include complete armaments. The materials for the third boat were to be delivered in England within twelve months of date.

The first destroyer was to be ready in Great Britain 14 months from date, and the second one, a month later.

TEMPERANCE DEPARTMENT

betrayal for the kidnappers, by the grief-stricken father who knew no desire save the recovery of his son. Happily for the safety of other children, the officers of the law were under no restrictions in the matter, the state offered a reward of $15,000, and the conspirators were speedily under arrest, and will, no doubt, receive adequate punishment.

The circumstance is not without profit. States will enact more stringent laws for the punishment of kidnappers; teachers will inquire more closely into the purpose of anyone who calls a child from the school room; parents will instruct children more fully as to the un wisdom of accepting attention from strangers, and children themselves will be more wary at least while the memory of Willie Whitely's experience lasts.

But what of the parents whose children are hopelessly lost to them through the channels of degradation that flourish under the license system? A king's ransom cannot restore a lost soul! And the state offers no reward for the rescue of sons and daughters who are victims of the vice upon which it puts a premium! Not many fathers are able to pay $10,000 for the recovery of a child, lost or stolen, but every father has a vote to cast for or against conditions that menace the welfare of his children. Let him register his protest against the traffic in humanity, under whatever guise it may be conducted.—Union Signal.

WHAT COULD HE SAY?

An American divine, traveling in Italy a few months since, was accosted while there by an Italian commissionaire who berated him well, charging him with the evil done to his countrymen who seek our shores. "Our peasant goes to you ignorant and poor, but sober," he said in effect, "for our wines are too costly for him to drink. And you! you teach him to love your vile liquor, your alcohol! He comes back with money, with which the awful disease of inebriety upon him and teaches it to others; the evil spreads. Oh, shame upon you! Shame!"

"What could I answer to such a charge?" inquired this Christian gentleman, who hates and fights strong drink wherever he finds it. "I was dumb. I knew his charge was true, though personally I was not to blame. I hung my head."—Union Signal.

EXPERT TESTIMONY.

With hardly an exception, the men who are incapacitated first during the preliminary activities of any campaign are the drinkers. The same is true in every effort of life which demands the best energy of a man. To the man who is actively engaged in responsible work, who must have at his command the best that is in him, at its best—and I would, with all the emphasis that I possess, advise and urge, leave drink alone—absolutely. He who drinks is deliberately disqualifying himself for advancement. Personally, I refuse to take such a risk. I do not drink.—William H. Taft, President of the United States. I do not believe that alcohol in any form has ever done or will do any one good. It is a sticky years old, and since I have entirely given up wine, spirits and beer, I find I can do as much work, or more, physically and mentally than I could when I was thirty.—Vice-Admiral Beresford, of the English Navy.

HOW THE BOSS VOTED.

On March 24 a local option election was held in Ohio, the smallest county in Indiana, and no license won by the small majority of thirty-two votes. The day before election, William Clore, the owner of the William Clore Sons' plow factory, which employs the largest number of men of any in the city of Rising Sun, hung a sign in his factory which read: "The boss is going to vote dry, and hopes his men will do likewise." The plant closed down at noon to give the men an opportunity to vote.

A practical demonstration of the power of industry, without a taint of bribery or coercion.—Union Signal.

PROHIBITION AND REAL ESTATE.

It is sometimes said—not so often now as it used to be—that the closing of saloons results in a shrinkage of property values. The liquor interests of Tennessee are making use of this same old worn-out argument to scare the people of that state. With the coming of July, 1939, when the statute prohibiting the sale of intoxicants goes into effect, will come, they say, a perceptible decline in rental values. They say that the Nashville Tennessee realtors, in this prediction of those to whom it refers as the "calamity howlers and knockers of business interests." Twenty-two real estate men of that city, being interviewed on the subject, emphatically declared their belief that prohibition, instead of checking the realty trade, will help that and all other lines of business—will improve conditions materially, morally, financially. They do not see how the spending of money in dry goods or grocery stores will work greater injury than if it were spent in saloons. These men are shrewd, keen, far-seeing business men, not sentimentalists or reformers. They are well fitted to judge of probable fluctuations in rentals and realty values. One says: "In the aggregate rents will be increased. This has been the experience of other cities that have put out saloons, some smaller than Nashville, some larger. Rents are higher without the saloon than with it." Another: "I have recently bought over $100,000 worth of improved real estate in and around Nashville, and I expect to get better prices than have been realized before, because we have got state-wide prohibition. If the owners of any suburban property are in a state of panic on account of 'state-wide,' ask them to see me; but I tell you frankly I don't expect to have any callers as a result of this invitation." And all the other twenty real estate dealers express themselves similarly.—Union Signal.

HITCHCOCK'S FUNERAL IS TO BE HELD NEXT MONDAY

Washington, April 10.—The body of Ethan Allan Hitchcock, former secretary of the interior and American ambassador to Russia, who died here yesterday, left here today for St. Louis. There, on Monday next, funeral services will be held from the Second Presbyterian church, and the body interred in Bellefontaine cemetery. Mrs. Hitchcock, Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Shepley, Miss Margaret Hitchcock and George C. Hitchcock of St. Louis accompanied the body to St. Louis.

NIGHT-RIDER SENTENCED TO ONE YEAR IN PENITENTIARY

Paducah, Ky., April 10.—John Jackson, charged with participating in a "night-rider" raid, in which an aged negro and a negro baby were shot to death and five other negroes wounded, has been sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by a jury in Kenton county. Jackson is the second man sentenced for the raid.
